

Latest Issue of the University of Miami Medicine Magazine is Now Available

Medicine's New Frontier is the cover story of the award-winning University of Miami Medicine magazine's latest issue. Now available digitally, Medicine shows how data-driven discoveries are speeding tomorrow's treatments to patients today.

Learn how the Miller School of Medicine remains a leader in the rapidly changing field of medicine, through stories about testing therapies on “digital twins” before using them to treat patients; a novel therapeutic approach for HIV-positive cancer patients; and our role in global preparations for the next pandemic.

In Class Acts, eight Miller School students share what drives them to pursue their medical studies and careers. Their accounts of overcoming adversity, finding purpose, and coping with change highlight the many paths that bring our future physicians to the nation's sixth most diverse medical program.

Read how the Miller School is building its future through Ever

Brighter: The Campaign for Our Next Century. Donor generosity supports the vision for the new Desai Sethi Urology Institute, the University of Miami Pediatric Mobile Clinic, the search for cures for rare diseases, and scholarships for medical students who might not otherwise be able to have a future in medicine. Many donors are former patients giving back in gratitude for the lifesaving care they received from our physicians.

The Voices section offers insights from the diverse Miller School community. Medicine also covers community partnerships to help at-risk kids, the health benefits of physical contact, how what we say to patients matters, and how our alumni are transforming lives.

Content Type Article